We live in a troubled world, facing an ever-deepening climate crisis. In these times it is easy to lose hope or wonder what Christian hope means. This day of reflection will cover how we feel about the climate crisis, different ideas about hope, what brings us hope, and how we can bring hope to others. The Diocesan Environmental Officer, Rev. Sandra Eldridge will lead us in considering what has been said about hope, in Scripture and elsewhere. The day will include time for individual reflection and for group discussion.

Everyone is welcome. There is no preparatory work and no cost. Please bring a packed lunch. Tea, coffee etc. and biscuits will be provided.
